- IK Sävahof host Brest Bretagne Handball in the second Match of the Week of the EHF Champions League Women 2023/24 season – a duel between two teams that were defeated by Hungarian opponents in the competition's opening round last weekend.

- Sävahof lost 32:29 against DVSC Schaeffler in Hungary; Brest narrowly went down 24:23 at home against record champions Györi Audi ETO KC.

- Brest clearly triumphed in all four previous duels with Sävahof, with +8 the smallest winning margin; their most recent encounter in March 2020 ended in 29:17.

- Only one Sävahof player from that duel is still with the Swedish team: line player Johanna Forsberg; on the other hand, six Brest players are still part of the French side.

- Sävahof have lost all nine CL matches against teams from France since beating Metz Handball in a CL 2014/15 main round match in February 2015.

- Now in their 11th CL season, Sävahof have so far failed each time to make it to the knockout phase.

- Brest appear in the CL for the seventh time; reaching the 2020/21 final against Vipers Kristiansand – after beating defending champions Györ in the semi-final – is the French club's best achievement so far.

- Two prolific Spanish internationals are set to meet in the MOTW: Sävahof's Carmen Martin, who is in her 14th CL season and won the title with CSM Bucuresti in 2016, and Alexandrina Cabral, who plays her 16th topflight campaign – with 10 different clubs.

- Carmen Martin and Danish centre back Laura Cecilie Jensen are the only non-Swedish players in Sävahof's squad; Brest count on players from nine countries.

- Brest's squad includes one Swedish player – centre back Jenny Carlson, but she has never played for Sävahof.

- Three Brest players – Cléopâtre Darleux, Pauletta Foppa, and Coralie Lassource – won gold with France at the Tokyo 2020 Olympics; Merel Freriks was part of the Dutch team that won the 2019 IHF World Championship.

- On average, Sävahof have by far the youngest squad of all 16 group phase teams: 21.5 years; the Brest players' average age is 24.1 years – which is identical to the average age of all CL players this season.

- However, the youngest player of all this season is wearing a Brest jersey: Macedonian right back Iva Mladenovska turned just 16 last January.

- Both teams could play their 100th CL match this season: Sävahof are on 93 and will reach the milestone in round 8 of the group phase in November; Brest are on 85 and will finish the group phase on 98, so they need to advance to the knockout phase to get to 100 this season.
